

'Subsea Pipelines Integrity Management 2010'

*Thursday 9th December 2010
80 Coleman Street
London
EC2R 5BJ*

The offshore industry continues to face challenges relating to monitoring, inspection and repair of subsea pipelines. A proactive programme of assessment, maintenance, and repair is required to avoid loss of production and risk to environment. This year the Pipeline Industries Guild, Subsea UK and the Society of Underwater Technology have joined together to present a one-day conference on the industry requirements and will seek to share knowledge, technology and best practice relating to subsea pipeline integrity management.

The conference will feature a series of high-profile speakers and presentations with opportunities for questions and answers throughout the sessions focusing on key issues such as: optimizing design to mitigate integrity issues, implementation of programs for integrity management, and assessment of integrity.
